

Leticia Amazonas is the southernmost city in Colombia, with an aprox of 30,000 people and a strong influence of Brasil and Peru (Our two neighbor countries). For the last 10 years, Leticia's has grown and this resulted on new gastronomic proposals, redefining amazonian flavors, and experimenting new recipes.

On this article I will include the best options to have dinner in Leticia:

- El Santo Angel

This is a well known restaurant specialized in pastas and pizzas. They came up with an amazonian proposal of Yuca (Casava) crust pizzas with different toppings. The blend with this kind of crust is really delicious and this is a MUST TRY dish in town.

Average Price: $8,000 - $10,000 (Personal size Casava Pizza)
